MATERIALS

COMPONENTS

Robust, top quality aluminium roller tubes provide the foundation for roller blinds. Moving parts are manufactured from engineering grade plastics which need no lubrication for the life of the blind. Extra heavy-duty aluminium tubes enable larger blinds to be made (up to 4 metres wide).

FABRIC

Choose from an extensive range of premium quality Australian, Asian and European fabrics made to resist shrinking and fading. Most fabrics are sanitised to resist rot and mildew, and are fire resistant. An extensive colour range and choice of styles is available to suit virtually any application.

ROLLER BLINDS & SUNSCREENS

Our collection of roller blinds features hundreds of colours and designs to suit any style. Plains, textures, stripes and patterns there's everything from the classic to the contemporary in bright, bold and vivid colours plus light naturals and neutrals.

Uniflex Sunscreens incorporate technically superior fabrics that provide light, glare and heat control whilst allowing continued enjoyment of outside views.

Roller blinds can provide significant thermal benefits, as well as reducing ultra violet rays. Automated blinds can be connected to building management systems to help reduce air conditioning costs.

By using a combination bracket, roller blinds and sunscreens can be fitted in the same window. This provides the privacy of blackout roller fabrics and the UV protection of sunscreens.

OPTIONS

GUIDEWIRES

Roller blinds and sunscreens can be fitted with guidewires for skylight windows. Guidewires can also be used where blinds are attached to doors.

MOTORISED OPERATION

Mains power or battery operated motors can be fitted to roller blinds. These can be operated via hand-held remotes, home automation, or an app on a mobile phone.

LINKED BLINDS

Two or three blinds can be linked together so that they roll up or down at the same time.
